The Web Design & Development Process

By utilizing HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and other web tools, I am able to create user-friendly websites that are fully responsive and mobile-ready. Each website is constantly tested on multiple environments and designed for all screen devices.

Design

The first step is to design and create a professional website that reflects each company's brand and goals.

Develop

The next step is to build, develop, edit, and constantly test each website to be ready for multiple environments.

Deploy

The final step is to launch the website and to take the site live. This is where all the hard work finally payoffs.
